QRD - I've presented evidence to suggest that Dominion Voting Systems is at least partially owned through Ukraine. The problem is figuring out who is ripping off who? Did the Ukrainians want Trump to get elected? Or did they want Biden to get elected?

Well, check out his twitter and decide for yourself.

DO NOT ENGAGE, you are in recon mode. Not all of the important information has been retrieved and archived. They will destroy evidence if they know you are looking. It has already begun

https://twitter.com/WaschukCanUA/status/1338669675429957634

This is a Dominion dig, boys. Remember, Zhoda is connected to Dominion through the 2007 Quebec filing. Oil/natural gas licenses are for 20 years so 2017 was the first time Zhoda EVER had to get it renewed.

Thanks to all of the anons who have archived the work so far.

Valeriy Holovko was governor of Poltava Oblast from 2014 to 2019 when he was dismissed by President Poroshenko.

Poltava Oblast is the location of the Lelyaki Oil field, managed by Kashtan Petroleum, a Joint venture between Ukrnafta and Zhoda 2001 Corporation.

The 2019 Presidential election in Ukraine was held on March 31st and April 21st, just two weeks after the press release to the right was published, bringing President Poroshenko's term to an end.

The photo on the left shows Holovko with Roman Waschuk, Canadian Ambassador to Ukraine from 2014 (the time of Euromaidan) to October 2019, when he was replaced.

In an interview with The Canadian Press Washuk refused critics who complained that the Canadian embassy in Kyiv gave shelter to protesters during Ukraine uprising of February 2014, when his predecessor Lulashnyk was ambassador. He acknowledged the protesters were camped in the main lobby for at least a week. Waschuk also suggested no harm came of it. "From what I was told, it was several days and they left flowers on departure," he said. The opening of the doors was "a gesture designed to react and to reach out to the people suffering in the turmoil," Waschuk said.[7]

Here's Zenon Potoczny at some mixer, pulled from the same facebook page of the Canadian Embassy in Ukraine.

Zenon was a director at Shelton Canada Corp in the 2000s.

In 2007, Shelton bought 100% of the shares in Zhoda 2001 Corporation from KROES ENERGY LIMITED.

Another angle of Zenon Potoczny. Note the greenish painting in the background.

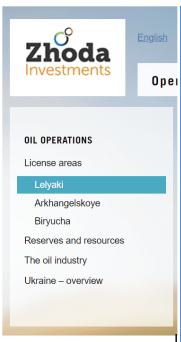

Both Zenon and the Vice President of Kroes had been members of the Canada Ukraine Chamber of Commerce since early 2005.

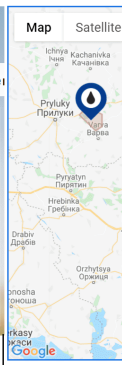

In January 2007, DOMINION VOTING SYSTEMS CORPORATION filed articles of incorporation for a branch in Quebec. A mysterious stakeholder appears and lists an address in Calgary, Alberta. Kroes Energy Limited is the only company that can verifiably be shown to have used that address in January of 2007

Ed Southern and Zenon Potoczny were both provably on the board of directors for the Canada Ukraine Chamber of Commerce

I'll self bump for a while in case there is anyone who has been following along with this lead. I'm getting strong signals that this is tied to the Canada Ukraine Free Trade Agreement (CUFTA).

When Trump came into office, there was concern in this partnership that the United States would be pulling out of NAFTA. So what Ukrainian industries started doing is shipping to Canada, modifying commodities, THEN exporting to the United states.

Special to The Ukrainian Weekly

OTTAWA – The doors to further trade deals may be closed once President-elect Donald Trump takes office on January 20, but Ukraine could have an exporting path to the United States via the Canada-Ukraine Free Trade Agreement (CUFTA), according to a Ukrainian Canadian member of Parliament.

Borys Wrzesnewskyj, who represents the Toronto riding of Etobicoke Center for the governing Liberals in the House of Commons, said in an interview that Ukrainian businesses operating in Canada under CUFTA would be able to take advantage of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) that includes Canada, the U.S. and Mexico.

"A company located in a place like southern Ontario would have access to the U.S. market," said Mr. Wrzesnewskyj, who was in Kyiv in July when International Trade Minister Chrystia Freeland – his Liberal Ukrainian Canadian colleague – signed CUFTA with Ukrainian Economic Development and Trade Minister Stepan Kubiv.

And let me try and lay out the timeline of what's going on in >>298826518 (You)

>In 2007, Dominion Voting Systems filed paperwork in Quebec.
>Also in 2007 Zenon Potoczny bought this oil field in Ukraine from a company in Canada.
>The address of that company appears on the Quebec filing that Dominion made.
>After the fall of the USSR, Ukraine had to figure out what its economy was going to look like. So they let a bunch of foreign companies flood into the country and start working all of the old Soviet infrastructure that was left over.
>That includes this oil field that Zenon bought. In 1996, the Ukrainian government drew up a 20 year license for people to be allowed to operate the oil field.
>So 20 years later, in 2017, Zenon owns this oil field and needs to get this license renewed. That happened in February 2017.
>3 of those photos were taken in February 2017 and have Zenon in them at some sort of mixer. Those facebook posts come from the page of the Canadian Embassy in Ukraine.

>2 weeks later, the Canadian Ambassador to Ukraine, who was also at that mixer, meets with the governor of the area where this oil field is located.
>2 years later, the Ukrainian President Poroshenko dismisses this governor amid allegations of corruption.
>As you'll recall, Poroshenko also dismissed another government employee some years prior, a prosecutor named Victor Shokin.
>The now former Canadian Ambassador to Ukraine is tweeting weird shit about the 2020 presidential election.
>It's suspicious as fuck.

I don't have a date on that. I will say that when Yanukovych was president (2010-2014) he had a very pro-Russian attitude. In fact he used to be governor of a territory on the Russian border. Getting him out was crucial for freeing up trade with the West, which is exactly what happened in 2014 when he was forced into exile in Russia. (Euromaidan Revolution)

BHR signing agreement, June 2013[21]

2013 Biden and Hunter visit China and meet BHR CEO LI

On December 4, HUNTER accompanies BIDEN on his official trip to China.

HUNTER told the New Yorker that he met Li during the December 2013 trip but described it as social encounter. "How do I go to Beijing, halfway around the world, and not see them (Li) for a cup of coffee?" he said. HUNTER arranged a quick meeting in the lobby of the American delegation's hotel in Beijing between BIDEN and Li, the BHR CEO. This was followed by a "social meeting" between HUNTER and Li, according to reports by the New Yorker.

The trip by HUNTER coincided with an official trip by the Ukranian President Viktor Yanukovych.[22] Many business deals promoting trade and investment between China and Ukraine were signed during this trip. Some deals between Chinese and Ukranian firms have ties to firms HUNTER is known to be involved with such as the Bohai Commodity Exchange, owned by the same local governments that own a part of Bohai Industrial Investment.

On 16 December 2013, a week after the BIDEN and HUNTER visit to Beijing, BHR was incorporated in Shanghai, with its registered address in the Shanghai Free Trade Zone, according to State Market Regulatory Administration <SMRA> records.[23]

HUNTER's profile no longer appears on the BHR website. One archived version lists him as a director on November 16, 2015.[24] BIDEN is referred to in the profile as a managing partner of Rosement Seneca Partners and a consultant at Boies Schiller Flexner LPP <Boies Schiller>. According to a statement by BIDEN's lawyer George Mesires on October 13, 2019, BIDEN was of counsel with Boies Schiller and advising Ukraine-linked Burisma Holdings Limited on its corporate reform initiatives.[25] He is also listed

For reasons unclear, LIN and LAKIS rebranded the US Provincial Legislative Leaders Forum as the China-U.S. Sub-national Legislatures Cooperation Forum. The lack of English media coverage (it was covered by China's foreign influence organizations and state media), combined with the attendance of senior Chinese diplomats (at the behest of Xi), suggests this event was organized by the Chinese government and is aimed at co-opting US state-level government officials (presumably to outflank the more powerful US government). Also the obscure locations (not in political cities but far away in Hawaii or Las Vegas) and event photos show a low-budget affair, not in keeping with a high-level state to state event.

On January 31 2020, the Biden Center arranged the Penn China Research Symposium, where current Chinese ambassador to the US Huang Ping[122] delivered the opening remarks.[123]

On August 8, the top foreign policy adviser of China's ruling Communist Party, YANG, said

"China has no interest in meddling in U.S. domestic politics."

Hunter Cultivated by Chinese Intelligence (Updated)

Our research shows that for more than decade, HUNTER has been personally targeted by China's intelligence apparatus and its various 'foreign relations agencies'. A U.S. Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs <HSGAC> published on September 23, 2020, details HUNTER's recent payoffs from a PLA linked tycoon, Ye Jianming <YE>, chairman of Chinese energy company CEFC China Energy Company Limited <CEFC>.[125]

YE's first break came when he purchased a small piston factory that supplied the Chinese army, after which he was a proxy for PLA officials, based on a New York Times article, and our proprietary research

- The trip by HUNTER coincided with an official trip b of the PLA's logistics network.[126] In the early 2000s, YE was the deputy secretary of CAIFC, according to his CEFC biography.[127] As explained, the CAIFC is a PLA front organization that has dual roles of intelligence collection and propaganda work, and worked with LIN and the SLLF a few years after YE left the organization.[128] YE also knows Xu, who was a CAIFC special advisor, and arranged for LIN and HUNTER's access to the highest levels of government.[129]

In line with his intelligence role, YE arranged events that brought together retired American and Chinese military officers. In 2015, YE arranged for an aide to meet with HUNTER and in May 2017, YE met privately with HUNTER at a Miami hotel. The purpose of the meeting was for HUNTER to use his contacts to help "identify investment opportunities for Ye's company CEFC China Energy," and afterwards YE gave HUNTER a 2.8-carat diamond.[130]

According to HSGAC's Confidential Document 9, YE and his associate Dong Gongwen, applied to a bank and opened credit lines for a business named Hudson West III LLC, giving HUNTER, his brother James (and James' wife Sarah Biden), credit cards which the Bidens used to buy extravagant items. The HSGAC report details a series of transfers and transactions worth millions of US dollars between CEFC, Hudson West and the Bidens. This – 11 years after HUNTER and James denied selling their political connections to foreigners for personal gain.

The problem with the research I provided earlier is that it failed to give any direct indication of MOTIVE. That is maybe starting to come together now. I had a conversation with some suggested that older Ukrainians living in Canada tended to have stronger feelings of loyalty towards Russia, which would shit the bed of any argument suggesting that the related pa western markets. At this point, I'm just tired of being jerked around. I haven't seen anything that would cause me to believe that Trump was involved in any shady shit in Eastern Europe at all. He seems to have been fairly ad hoc and maybe even a bit reckless with his approach to Russia, but this guy is a fucking populist. If the Democrats were serious about leads on his corruption, they would leak the Black Ledger in its entirety. Not doing so, to my thinking, is a fairly strong indicator that there are libshit names on it.

Isn't it odd that the DNC was actively trying to get the Republican nomination to Trump in 2016, and the person that they nailed for fraud in Ukraine, Manafort, was his CAMPAIGN MANAGAER?

Gnedinsky gas processing plant

Gnedinsky Gas Processing Plant (Ukrainian Gnidinsky Gas Processing Plant) is an industrial enterprise in the village of Gnedintsy, Varvinsky District, Chernihiv Region .

History

In 1963, for the development of the Gnedinskoye oil and gas condensate field discovered in 1959 in Gnedintsy, the construction of an oil refinery was started, the first stage of which - complex oil treatment unit No. 1 - was put into operation in 1968.

Subsequently, in accordance with the 9th five-year plan for the development of the national economy of the USSR according to the project of the Kiev design institute "UkrNIIproekt" [3] , a gas processing plant was built in Gnedintsy, which was put into operation in 1974 [1] and in April 1974 gave first production.

Gnedinsky gas processing plant
A type	limited liability company
Year of foundation	1974 [1]
Location	USSR → Ukraine ,Gnedintsy
Industry	oil industry [1]
Parent company	OJSC " Ukrnafta " [2]

In 1977, the level of mechanization of production processes at the enterprise exceeded 90%, this year the plant processed 400 million m³ of associated petroleum gas [1] . Also, in 1977 gasification of the village of Gnedintsy was carried out from the plant [4] .

As of the beginning of 1979, the plant was equipped with new equipment and was one of the leading enterprises of the oil industry (the main technological processes were automated by this time), the main products of the plant were gas for domestic consumption, liquefied gas for domestic consumption and stable gas gasoline [1] , part of the manufactured products were exported outside the USSR.

After the declaration of independence of Ukraine, the plant became the largest of the seven gas processing plants in Ukraine. Later, the state-owned enterprise was transferred to the management of the production association "Ukrnafta" and transformed into a limited liability company .

The economic crisis that began in 2008 complicated the position of the plant, on December 5, 2008, drilling operations were suspended, production volumes were reduced, the company was transferred to part-time and 4-day workweek. The main products of the GPP at that time were liquefied gas and gasoline [5] .

In May 2009, the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine added the plant to the list of especially important objects of the oil and gas industry of the country's economy [6] .

PrivatBank [edit]

In 2016 Ihor Kolomoisky and his business partner Gennadiy Bogolyubov were accused of defrauding Ukraine's largest bank PrivatBan Ukrainian government nationalized the bank in 2016 after paying off a $5.6 billion bailout. The lawsuit against Kolomoisky was brought London and initially resulted in freezing $2.6 billion of the oligarch's assets. However, in 2018 the High Court in London ruled that it hac proceedings and found that "PrivatBank "fabricated" the case in an attempt to bring a claim in London"[63]

In April 2019, a Ukrainian court ruled that the nationalisation of PrivatBank was illegal.[64][65] Ukraine's central bank said it would not be nationalisation and that it would appeal the decision.[66] Kolomoisky states that he has no interest in taking over control of the bank an losses he insists were incurred during the nationalisation.[67]

Criminal investigation [edit]

In April 2019 it was reported that that FBI is investigating Ukrainian oligarch Kolomoisky over alleged financial crimes.[68]

Former Soviet Union

Officials in Kiev said Transneft, Russia's state oil pipeline company, had agreed to Ukraine's demand for a 22% increase in transit fees.

When Russian leaders objected to that demand, the EU triggered an early warning mechanism, advising oil consumers to brace for possible shortages. But oil traders said that there was enough capacity in other Russian oil pipelines to compensate for any drop in exports across Ukraine.

Oil shipments across Ukraine are far less important for Europe than gas shipments

IMF assistance sought

In mid-December 2009, Ukraine made an urgent appeal to the IMF for about $2 billion (€1.4 billion) in emergency loans to help the country meet its external obligations.

These include payments to Russia, which supplies natural gas to the European Union via Ukraine.

In October, the IMF suspended a $3.8-billion disbursement over the government's failure to implement key economic reforms.

Delay in instituting reforms demanded by the IMF was blamed in part on the impact of campaigning for presidential elections scheduled for January 2010.

Wheat-for-oil deal with Libya

Libya agreed in May 2009 to a deal under which the African country would be allowed to grow wheat for its own use on a designated 1,000-sq-km (386-sq-mi) site in Ukraine.

In return, Libya promised to provide 600,000 tonnes (4.4 million bbl) of oil to Ukraine's Kremenchug refinery.

Exploration and Development

Lelyaki field

The Kashtan Petroleum Joint Venture was making plans to further redevelop the Lelyaki oil field in Ukraine in 2009. The most recent work involved Well 307.

It was drilled to 1,960 m (6,431 ft), encountering oil-saturated porous zones in the lowermost K zone and also in the P1+P2 dolomite zone. Completed in the K zone, it was averaging 284 b/d of oil in early 2009.

Wells 304A and 308 were to be drilled next, and four other suspended wells were to be reentered and sidetracked in 2009.

Drilling and Production

Krasnapolianskoye field

In fourth quarter 2009, Transeuro Energy Corp. signed a contract and announced plans to sell natural gas in early 2010 from two wells in Ukraine's Krasnapolianskoye field. The firm estimates initial sales volume at 1.2 MMcfd.

The gas is to be converted to compressed natural gas for vehicle use.

Reserves are estimated by the government at 14 bcf, while Transeuro's third-party auditors assigned possible reserves of 2.7 bcf.

Coalbed methane tax exemption

Ukraine's president in mid-2009 signed into law legislation that exempts from taxation the production and use of coalbed methane for 10 years, starting January 1, 2010.

The law authorizes Ukraine's National Electricity Regulatory Commission to limit the price of methane if its production is funded from the state budget.

The government plans to grant state support and guarantees to the producers and suppliers of energy from coalbed methane.

I don't know how to ask you this. I need to know if Kolomoisky has been the unofficial owner of Lelyaki since 2007.

Pipelines/Transportation

EC loans for gas sector

The European Commission in July 2009 approved loans worth up to $1.7 billion to help Ukraine buy, store, and move gas. The loans would come from the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development, the World Bank, and the European Investment Bank.

The EC said it expects an investment of $3.4 billion will be required between 2009 and 2015. The improvements are expected to increase system efficiency by 25%.

In return, Ukraine agreed to operate its pipeline network with increased transparency.

The Ukraine gas pipeline system spans 13,500-km (8,389 mi), is more than 40 years old, and is one of the most complex in the world.

EC Pres. Jose Manuel Barroso said the agreement "should provide the stability needed to significantly reduce the risk of a further gas crisis between Ukraine and Russia and therefore provide the security of supply that member states and our consumers expect."

The EC-funded project angered Russian officials who had expressed interest in participating in the modernization project.

Refining and Products

Kremenchug refinery upgrade

Ukrainian holding company Ukrtatnafta awarded a contract to a French firm in early 2009 for a first-of-its-kind upgrading gasoline production capabilities at the 360,000-b/d Kremenchug refinery—the largest in Ukraine.

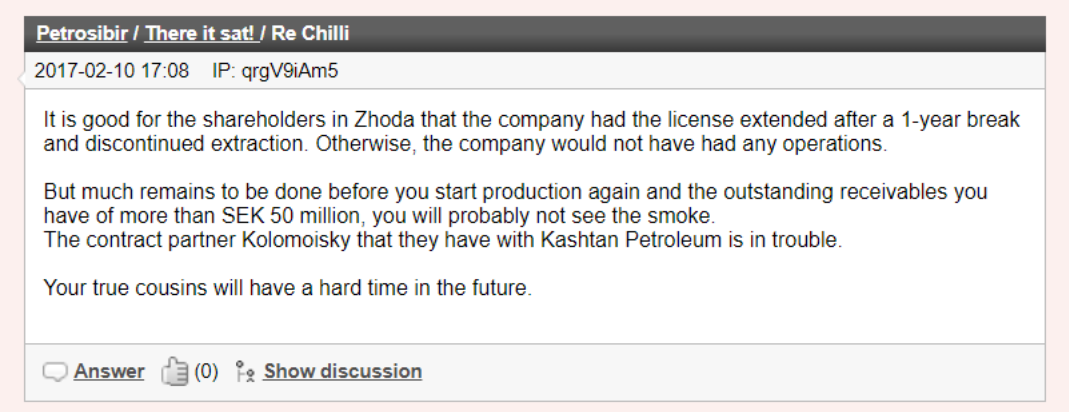

The project will add processing units to enable the production of Euro-5 gasoline in 2011.

Yes. The Kashtan JV was started in 1996, though. A Canadian named Ed Southern went to Ukraine and made a deal to restart Lelyaki. That's when the first license was given. Lelya Ukragazprom (I think), which would eventually become Ukrnafta. I think Kolomoisky owned something like 42% of Ukrnafta. He was there from the beginning. Does this sound right?

Kolomoisky's bank, PrivatBank, is later revealed to be a recipient of billions of dollars of IMF funds. Kolomoisky is believed to have looted those funds:

https://twitter.com/SeekerOTL/status/1098626465699106817

At one point in time, Kolomoisky had been placed on a US Government Visa ban list due to his questionable business practices; however, shortly after Archer Devon and Hunter Biden joined the board of Burisma, that ban was mysteriously lifted, and there has been no investigation into these missing funds.

Where are the billions of dollars that went missing in the Ukraine? What do Obama, Biden and Kerry and their children know about where the money is and are they connected? Are they all connected to the arrests of associates of Rudy Giuliani?

the political lever was used by putin on ukraine because he wanted ukraine to remain in the russian sphere, it also seemed that ukrainians did not pay their bill of gas to russian. It would be interesting to look at how this money was redistributed in a corrupt country. Maybe Kolomoisky could also divert money from gas for his own account.

it never closed the pipeline

there was also a dispute over a corruption contract under which Ukraine paid a fine for not using gas

this is a long history and it is not Kolomoisky but Tymoshenko and Putin

these are Kolomyia's competitors

Ukraine has the largest oil and gas storage facilities in Europe very large they are able to fully secure Europe

there is competition for these repositories between America Russia hopes to sell its gas
if the Turks take Karabakh, they will also become gas exporters and there are still Arabs with their oil who do not mind pumping it to Ukraine and it seems that the Nordic countries still have gas, so they do not allow the Russian gas pipeline therefore, America is interested in these storage facilities to sell its gas

Chinese are Russia and you can no longer worry Russia is the Chinese all Chinese migrant traffic and buying enterprises goes through Russian intermediaries

Opinion by Josh Rogin
Columnist

Oct. 3, 2019 at 1:39 p.m. CDT

Months before an intelligence community whistleblower accused President Trump's lawyer Rudolph W. Giuliani of digging for dirt on former vice president Joe Biden in Ukraine, many in that country knew what he was up to and some were talking about it publicly.

One Ukrainian oligarch in particular, a figure close to President Volodymyr Zelensky, claims to have first-hand knowledge of Giuliani's activities because, he says, Giuliani's business associates tried to rope him into the scheme. When this Ukrainian business tycoon, Ihor Kolomoisky, rejected Giuliani's request for help, Giuliani attacked him on Twitter and called for him to be investigated. Kolomoisky then gave an on-the-record interview on Ukrainian television in which he predicted that Giuliani was soon going to be the center of a "big scandal" in the United States.

In May, Kolomoisky told Ukrainian media, in an interview barely noticed in Washington, that two of Giuliani's business associates, Lev Parnas and Igor Fruman, came to visit him in Israel in April to "demand" he set up a meeting between Giuliani and Zelensky. This was months before Ambassador Kurt Volker eventually did set up a meeting between Giuliani and Zelensky's adviser Andriy Yermak.

"They wanted to have a meeting with Zelensky and show Giuliani that they had organized everything," Kolomoisky said. "A big scandal may break out, and not only in Ukraine, but in the United States. That is, it may turn out to be a clear conspiracy against Biden."

Kolomoisky owned the television station that distributed the comedy show in which Zelensky played the role of the president of Ukraine. He was living in Israel after the government in Kiev nationalized his bank amid accusations he embezzled billions of dollars. His relationship with Zelensky is long and complicated. But he said he rejected the "demand" from Parnas and Fruman that he connect Giuliani with Zelensky, who was then the incoming new president.

"Look, there is Giuliani, and there [are] two clowns, Lev Parnas and Igor Fruman, who were milking the bull here. They are Giuliani's clients," Kolomoisky told the Ukrainska Pravda website. "They came here and told us that they would organize a meeting with Zelensky. They allegedly struck a deal with [Prosecutor-general Yuriy] Lutsenko about the fate of this criminal case – Burisma, [former vice president] Biden, meddling in the U.S. election and so on."

Kolomoisky is no innocent. In addition to being accused of extensive financial crimes, the Ukrainian-Jewish billionaire also stands accused of using quasi-military forces on behalf of his PrivatBank to corruptly take over other companies. The government forcibly nationalized PrivatBank in 2016. The Ukrainian official who made that decision was recently run over by a car and endured an arson attack on her home – with Kolomoisky the prime suspect.

But what's important is not whether Kolomoisky is trustworthy – it's that Giuliani's attempts to get to Zelensky began well before Volker or the whistleblower got involved. And his efforts were not only well known, but public. In July, BuzzFeed published an extensive investigative report on what Giuliani, Parnas and Fruman were up to.

Giuliani told my Post colleagues this week that he has not done paid consulting work in Ukraine since 2017. He would not say if he is currently being paid by Parnas and Fruman, who were pursuing a natural gas export venture involving Ukraine at the same time.

Three congressional committees are demanding documents related to hundreds of thousands of dollars Parnas and Fruman donated to a pro-Trump Super PAC. Parnas told the Post he got involved in politics because he was a huge Trump supporter; Fruman declined to comment.

Kolomoisky, in his May interview, claimed to have lots of evidence about Giuliani's efforts with Parnas and Fruman to dig up dirt on Biden and get various Ukrainian officials to help. He claims to have text messages from Parnas and Fruman detailing Giuliani's motives and receipts of money they were paid.

"If we put aside conspiracy theories and some comedy staff, the situation was about their willingness to make both Lutsenko and Zelensky interested in continuing the investigation (into Biden)," he said. "There is so much interesting information that everyone will be interested [to know it]. I believe both U.S. and our law enforcers. And they will be very interested . . . ."

Lutsenko has recently said he found no evidence the Bidens committed any wrongdoing. Giuliani turned on Lutsenko this week, after working with him for months to push the Biden narrative.

Kolomoisky went public with his accusations about Giuliani, Parnas and Fruman after Giuliani tweeted on May 18 that Kolomoisky was under investigation by the FBI and had "threatened two American citizens," Parnas and Fruman. Giuliani said Kolomoisky was an enemy of Trump and suggested Zelensky should arrest him.

Giuliani cancelled his own trip to Kiev in May after facing public criticism but told the New York Times on May 9 his trip was to advance his "meddling in an investigation." I reported in May Giuliani was involved in a smear campaign against U.S. Ambassador to Ukraine Marie Yovanovitch, who was recalled early. On Wednesday, Giuliani admitted pushing a package of research that included allegations against Yovanovitch to Secretary of State Mike Pompeo for him to "investigate."

Congress likely will want to follow up and see if Kolomoisky has real evidence that confirms what Giuliani, Parnas and Fruman were doing. But regardless of whether you believe this Ukrainian oligarch, Giuliani's meddling in Ukrainian politics and interference in U.S. foreign policy to advance the Biden accusations was extensive, public and predated the involvement of the State Department, Volker or the whistleblower. These fuckers at the Washington Post >seen any Canadians?

as the difference between a Ukrainian Canadian and a Ukrainian did not see Canadians saw the Chinese and Rassians

good luck to you in your search

You don't understand. Ukraine is literally owns US via shady schemes and shell companies. You are all slaves to the hohols.

Resistance is futile. Surrender your meds.
